

Clearway Key-operated Steel Door

Durability and reliability, providing an invaluable layer of protection for your premises.

Product overview

Many premises, such as retail units, often have multiple entry points which represent significant vulnerabilities. With many buildings a separate point of access is likely to be required to allow for tradespeople, property managers/agents or other authorised personnel to come and go.

Manufactured from heavy-duty plate steel to our exacting design and specification, our key-operated steel doors provide an obvious and effective physical barrier and are designed to be securely installed in any size door-opening.

These steel doors provide a cost-effective and secure solution and are ideal where authorised personnel have easy access to keys.
